

Social entrepreneurship, innovation and human development

SocentLabo is a non-profit organization, seeking to create social businesses that will no longer be accompanied once they are autonomous and sustainable. Initiatives are incubated the time they need, they fly when they are able to do so.

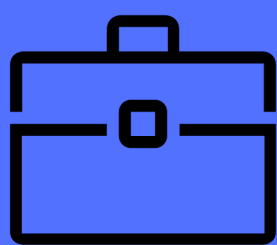

There are niche markets for social businesses. Consumers are increasingly aware of their influence when choosing a product or service. The current work environment is oriented to self-employment, cooperatives, micro-companies and any new form of business that does not involve large investments.

Changing needs of today's society, innovation, needs of vulnerable groups integration and constant changes environment generate opportunities that can be properly managed by social businesses.

INNOVATION

We love being innovative, disruptive and turning the problems around to find the best and most suitable solutions.

INCUBATION

We provide what an entrepreneurship project needs as well as the consolidation of a business model: mentoring, monitoring, definition of social added value and sustainability.

CREATING BUSINESSES & EMPLOYMENT

We support young entrepreneurs, project carriers and individuals with a desire to undertake and change the socio-economic environment of their community. We help them generate sustainable and sustainable business models with social, economic and environmental sustainability.

PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES

People with disabilities are for us a fundamental collective for our integration interventions. We incorporate them into our work model and support them in their entrepreneurial projects.
